VOL. XXXVIII. JULY 25, 1919.

BRITAIN USES FRENCH TREATY CLAUSE TO ATTACK PRESIDENT.

ENGLAND IS RESISTING.

Government Fights Coercion.

Even Sinister Power of the Triple Alliance Fails to Frighten.

Bonar Law's Policy is to Protect Naton's Industry at Any Cost.

Mr. Bonar Law told the House of Commons today he was prepared to use force if necessary "to protect the country from undue pressure of any kind."

Smilie has taken the stand that the time is ripe for union labor to demonstrate that it is the greatest power in all England—greater than any government force. Smilie is not fighting for the coal miners' demand, which is simply the torch which has set blazing the economic prosperity of the nation; but, instead, is using the strike to further the political ambitions of union labor and to dictate to the government what its policies shall be in the army, in the Russian situation and any other line union labor chooses to espouse.

Back of Bonar Law and Lloyd George is the government. Back of Smilie and his union labor is a mass of radicals. Both sides realize that England stands on the brink of revolution.

The floodings of the coal mines, with a strike loss, is an indication of how far the Smilie party will go. The threat to call out the textile workers and to paralyze industries generally is another indication of the seriousness of the crisis.

The subcommittee of the Miners' Federation met tonight with the Coal Controller, and there is a faint hope that an amicable settlement of the strike may be reached, but it is a faint hope, for it is realized that Smilie and his triple alliance holds in a grip the lesser union labor organizations.

The brightest feature of the situation tonight is the report that the attempt to rule by violence has proceeded without interference and has been so successful that Sir Eric Geddes is to return to London tomorrow.

PRESS IS ALARMED. The press shows a realization of the seriousness of the crisis. The Evening News today said: "The revolution has started. The flooding of mines is as great an act of violence as the burning of cotton mills."

The newspaper says the government has determined to use the armed forces to fight the "direct actionists" to a decision. The Telegraph calls the strike movement "a direct action" to smash the constitution and "to shatter the fabric of political democracy."

The nation cannot live under the shadow of Robert Smilie's incessant and peremptory "stand and deliver," says the Morning Post. "We must be free or die. Of all of the forms of servitude the least tolerable is that which the triple alliance with the miners in the lead, seek to impose."

The Daily Mail terms the proposed general ballot "a bad blunder." It continues: "It is an attempt to force that sovereignty upon the country which was rejected last December. They are trying to rule by violence instead of by justice and fairness of argument. They are asking for a beating."

The Mail further says the miners would attempt to obtain a statement from the Premier but that it probably would not be forthcoming. There is an impression in Parliament, says the Mail, that the Premier is against nationalization of the mines and intends to say so.

The Daily News' Parliamentary correspondent believes it more likely the Prime Minister will not pin himself to a definite programme, but will keep an open mind as to the settlement of the dispute in the Yorkshire coal fields.

NO RESULT AT CONFERENCE. No settlement was reached at the morning session of the conference. The conference adjourned until tomorrow.

WILHELM'S TRIAL OPPOSED.

LONDON, July 24.—It is possible that former Emperor William may not be tried in London, according to an announcement made in the House of Lords today by Earl Curzon of Kedleston, government leader in the upper house.

The Lords passed the peace treaty, comparable with Charles I or Napoleon. He was unable to imagine that a man who had indignously fled his country could be turned into a martyr or a hero or a traitor, while his continual presence near the German border might be a political danger.

Baron Buckmaster said there were grave reasons why the government ought not to pursue any further the project of trying the German war lord. It was certainly untimely, he declared, to ask an English judge to sit on such a tribunal to administer a law he does not know by procedure and has never been defined, in a court he does not control, and means followed that London would thought the Kaiser in exile in no be the place selected.

EGYPTIAN RIOT CASUALTIES 2400.

LONDON, July 24.—Eight hundred natives were killed and 1600 wounded during the recent disturbances in Egypt, according to dispatches from Gen. E. H. H. Allenby. Cecil Harmsworth, undersecretary of the Foreign Office, made this announcement in the House of Commons tonight.

The casualties to European and other civilians were: Killed, 346; wounded, 35. The casualties to the military were: Killed, 29; wounded, 114.

The death sentence was imposed on thirty-nine natives; detention for life, twenty-seven. Upwards of 2000 were sentenced to short terms of imprisonment. The military courts have been dispensed with, the sentences which they imposed being reduced by three months.

GANDIER AFTER SATAN IN JAPAN.

Anti-Saloon Leagues Refused Pass to France Working for Nipponese.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—D. M. Gandier, formerly field agent in California for the Anti-Saloon League, is in Japan to aid an active crusade that is being waged against sake, a popular oriental liquor, according to Frederic C. Penfield, an American newspaper man, who arrived today from Japan.

Mr. Gandier sailed for Japan in April after his request for passports to France had been refused by the Department of State.

Penfield said the movement against use of sake had reached strong proportions.

SUFFRAGE LOSES IN HARD GEORGIA FIGHT.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
ATLANTA (Ga.), July 24.—The Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment was defeated overwhelmingly in both houses of the General Assembly. Following a fight that has occupied about two-thirds of the entire time since the session opened, the Senate finally brought the question to a vote at the morning session and killed it by a majority of thirty votes, the ballot being 39 for and 9 against ratifying the amendment.

The House took the bill up at the opening of the Thursday morning session and disposed of it in short order, only fourteen hours being consumed in the discussion. The final vote on the bill, with the amendment proposed by the committee against ratification, was 115 yeas and 29 nays.

A request for immediate consideration was blocked by the Robinson, Democrat, and the resolution carried over to tomorrow. It carries over from Section IV of the bill.

Present treaty will be submitted to the Senate the same time as the bill, and the Senate is expected to ratify it.

Mr. Lodge offered the measure during the debate, and the speaker declared that the treaty required ratification by the Senate at the same time as the bill.

The President's action in opposition to President Wilson's course angered the legislators and he was time and again denounced as a "mediator" during the debate. Senator Harris was also denounced, being described as a man who had gone to the Senate by virtue of Wilson's endorsement when Georgia was raging with the war fever. So bitterly have legislators resented the President's course that it is common talk that he would have difficulty in carrying Georgia if he should again be a candidate.

Four More States Ask Referendum.

The Nation's Highest Court will be Asked to Settle the Issue.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, July 24.—Petitions for a referendum on the prohibition constitutional amendment will be filed within twenty-four or forty-eight hours in Maine, Michigan, Missouri, and Nevada. It was announced tonight at the western headquarters of the Association Opposed to National Prohibition. The referendum right, because of conflicting court decisions, is expected to be taken to the United States Supreme Court as well as the constitutionality of the amendment, according to Levy Mayer, counsel for the association.

Referendum petitions have been filed in Ohio, California, Colorado, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Washington and court action is contemplated in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Washington, where the petitions have been held up and delayed, he said.

In Oregon, Utah and Idaho the courts have held that the right of referendum does not apply to a resolution ratifying a constitutional amendment, while Mr. Mayer stated, the Supreme courts of Washington and Ohio have decided the right does apply.

An attempt to have the United States Supreme Court review the adverse decisions will be made, he said.

JAPANESE DENY CABLE TAPPED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—T. Ohta, Consul-General of Japan to San Francisco, today formally denied the report that had been spread "that the American cable line between Guam and Manila was being systematically tampered with by Japanese subjects in furtherance of fraudulent transactions."

Consul-General Ohta made public a letter from George Clapperton, traffic manager of the Commercial Cable Company, which said:

"The statement that any evidence has been discovered that any part of the Commercial Cable Company's cable between the United States and the Philippine Islands and China has been tapped is untrue. All sections of this line of cable are duplexed. Duplex submarine cables cannot be tapped."

BELA KUN IN FLIGHT.

Asks Safe Conduct to Argentina.

Pettura and Gregorieff Effect Junction and are Advancing on Kiev.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, July 24.—Bela Kun, deposed head of the Budapest soviet government, has asked the Allies for safe conduct to the Argentine republic, where he intends living, according to an Exchange Telegraph Copenhagen dispatch quoting Vienna reports.

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—The Bolshevik offensive east and west of Pskov has been stopped by Estonian troops and Gen. Gregorieff, former prefect of Odessa, operating against the Bolsheviks, have succeeded in effecting a junction of forces in the rear of the Bolsheviks along the Dniester River, on the Rumanian front.

Pettura is marching on Kiev from the west, Gregorieff coming up from the south, and Atman Anshel, leading important Ukrainian bands, advancing on Kiev from Konotop and other points northeast of Kiev.

BELA KUN FORCES IN RUMANIAN OFFENSIVE.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
VIENNA, Wednesday, July 23.—The Rumanian and Ukrainian bands, advancing on Kiev from Konotop and other points northeast of Kiev, have crossed the River Thies, 110 miles northeast of Kiev, and are advancing on Kiev from Konotop and other points northeast of Kiev.

The Hungarians entered Torok-Szentmiklos, a town in Hungary, and have captured a number of prisoners, food and munitions.

Bela Kun, communist leader, declared he was grieved this to punish the Allies, but said he had notified Premier Clemenceau that action was necessary to keep the peace.

The Hungarian soviet feels the necessity of keeping its army busy. For a long time it hesitated in making an attack, anticipating that this action would lead to general counter-offensive against the soviet.

(A Vienna dispatch under date of July 21 said that the Vienna newspapers reported the downfall of Bela Kun and the taking over of power by a triumvirate.)

BOOKIES PUT OUT BY CHIEF.

Home Closes up All Betting Places; Says They Will Stay Shut.

If you have any bets to place on the races don't go down Main and Spring streets looking for book-makers because they have been put out of business.

Chief of Police Home yesterday officially stated that all betting on horse racing has stopped in this city.

The Chief sent Police Sergeant A. W. Gifford and Police Detective Sergeant Frank Williams through the downtown district to order the book-makers to close up. Two hours later, according to the Chief, not a bet could be placed in the city.

Chief Home stated that betting on horse races is off for good in the city and the bookies will not be allowed to open up again.

Through the police department to close down on all gambling games, both in Chinatown and the other police districts. Members of the Metropolitan Squad, under Sgt. Gifford, were ordered yesterday to increase their operations and to bring in all blind piggers, street walkers and gamblers.

Chief Home stated yesterday: "We do not want to be known as crusaders, but we are going to enforce the laws of this city, no matter where they strike."

WILLIAMS PAYS MISS RAYMOND.

Big Cash Settlement of Lost Love Suit Made.

No Appeal by Actor from Verdict of Jury.

The broken heart of pretty Roma Raymond, the little Polish girl with the large eyes who recently won a $50,000 lost-love suit in the local courts from Earle Rafael Williams, film star, was made whole again yesterday when she received a generous roll of greenbacks from Mr. Williams.

The attorneys representing both parties would not divulge the exact amount which Mr. Williams paid Miss Roma. It being a "gentlemen's agreement" between them to keep it secret, it is known that the film idol was given a receipt for a sum approximating $40,000.

This latest revelation of the Williams-Raymond lost-love case immediately followed a published statement that Mr. Williams had announced his intention of asking for a new trial. In filing his notice of intention, Mr. Williams stated he believed the jury which returned the verdict against him acted under the influence of "passion or prejudice," and that he had discovered new evidence to show that he did not promise to marry Miss Raymond, as she testified in court.

THE SETTLEMENT. Instead of doing this, however, Mr. Williams, with LeRoy Edwards of Hunsaker Britt & Edwards, his attorney, called at the offices of W. I. Gilbert of Gilbert, Gage & Foley, attorneys for Miss Raymond, and made a final pecuniary settlement was discussed and consummated. According to the lawyers, both Miss Raymond and Mr. Williams are thoroughly satisfied with the settlement and the case is finally closed.

The payment of the heart-balm closes the most sensational case of the sort tried in western courts in some years. It was the final act in a trial here at the Metropolitan picture studio. In the evidence presented at the trial here, it was pointed out that Miss Raymond and Mr. Williams had lived together as man and wife for four years.

The Polish girl testified that Mr. Williams had promised to marry her, but had later refused, due to a physical disability which he alleged he was suffering. She also testified that Mr. Williams at the time was only earning a weekly salary of $85, which, he stated, was insufficient to support them both.

The couple drifted apart and the actor came to California in December, 1917. Miss Raymond later said in a newspaper that she carried him secretly married Miss Florence Walz, a Brooklyn heiress, in October, 1918. Then she married the first train for Los Angeles and filed a heart-balm suit for $150,000, which she claimed was to adjust her suffering and humiliation.

THE SENSATIONAL TRIAL. The case was begun last April and postponed until June. Throughout the trial the courtroom was always crowded with curious people, mostly women. During the last days of the trial Miss Raymond appeared in court dressed in black, and accompanied by her mother. While on the witness stand she once cried out hysterically: "I loved him. Why should I give him up?"

It took the jury of eight women and four men forty-five minutes to decide that Miss Raymond and Mr. Williams had lived together as man and wife for four years and that Williams had promised to marry her, a promise which he never carried out. They awarded her $50,000, one of the largest judgments of the kind ever entered.

FEAR BOY IS STOLEN. Police Search for Child who Boarded Strange Auto.

In the belief that the lad may have been abducted by a man driving an automobile to San Francisco, the police here last night began investigating the disappearance of Donald Wrisley, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Louis Wrisley of 1417 Echo Park avenue.

According to a report made to Policewoman Brittan Layman of the juvenile bureau, the lad, in company with another boy, was asking for rides in passing automobiles last Wednesday afternoon and at Sunset boulevard and Echo Park avenue a man picked them up. After the lad was in the machine the driver stated he was going to Saugus and Bakersfield and asked them to go with him. The companion of the Wrisley boy became frightened and jumped from the car. Last night the Wrisley family was notified by the police.

SAVED IN HEAVY SEA. Three Nearly Drowned as Waves Found Strand at Venice.

High waves and a heavy tide resulted in three near drownings at Venice in less than an hour last evening. In each instance the bather was carried beyond his depth and was brought to shore by members of the life saving crew.

Victor Wendenberger of Los Angeles fought the first man who went to his aid, so bitterly that another guard was called to assist in the rescue. L. C. Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, and Samuel Simpson, 44 Venice avenue, Venice, were the others rescued.

NO INFECTIOUS DISEASE.

Last Charge Against Norwalk Refuted; Rogers Denies Intimidation.

Positive declaration that none of the thirty-five patients of the Norwalk State Hospital, classified as victims in the tertiary stages of a dangerous disease, were in an infectious state, and therefore were not a menace to other patients, was made at the late afternoon session of yesterday's investigation into the conditions and conduct of that institution by the State Board of Charities and Corrections. The witness was Dr. George G. Hunter of Los Angeles, engaged by the board as an expert. Other experts testified that the charges of improper segregation and faulty sanitation were groundless.

Dr. Hunter stated from the witness stand that he examined the patients at the institution, and that the persons who showed any evidences of having sores on their bodies, were diagnosed by him as suffering from ordinary pus-forming infections, inflicted, in most cases, by the scratching of the patients themselves. The disease, Dr. Hunter explained, is infectious and contagious in the second stage of its course, but never in the third. "Parasites almost never come until after the third stage is reached," he added.

INTIMIDATION CHARGED. Dr. H. G. Brainerd, vice-president of the board of trustees of the Norwalk State Hospital, and one of the foremost men of his profession in mental disorders, took the stand in defense of the hospital. He reviewed extensively the hospital's history and unqualifiedly praised its conduct. Of Chandler Sprague, the complaining witness, he declared his belief that the Lambert treatment, which Sprague underwent the first two days of his stay in the hospital, impaired his eyesight and caused a sort of mild delirium, such being the well-known effects of the drug used in that treatment. In such a case, he said, Mr. Sprague figuratively "saw things" and may have been honestly mistaken in what he thought he saw. He assisted in questioning several patients and Mr. Sprague himself regarding the alleged intimidating methods said to have been used on Earl Rogers.

When Mr. Sprague was called to the stand to give his version of the affair, he told practically the same story, but denied that anything was said about "intimidation" by the physician. He admitted, under questioning of Joseph L. Lewisohn, deputy Attorney-General, and Dr. John R. Haynes, one of the board members, that Rogers did say: "Tell me, better come through." The much desired statement was not obtained from the doctor, however.

The Yale man, recalled to the stand, reiterated that the threat was made, with an implication of undesirable publicity.

ROGERS DENIES IT. "The entire story is a damned lie," said Earl Rogers in this city yesterday.

CHILDREN NEARLY DROWN.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) LONG BEACH, July 24.—Suffering from bruises and lacerations, four children, ranging in ages from 8 to 12 years, were discovered clinging to the piling of the Pacific Electric trestle spanning the inlet between Seal Beach and Alamitos Bay today. They were saved from drowning by Ferdinand Voss, 17 years old, of 2501 East Fourth street, and a companion, who lowered a rope to the youngsters and pulled them up from a heavy sea, one by one.

The children are George Minney, 11 years old, and John Minney, 12 years old, sons of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Minney of Alamitos Bay, and Carey Marvel, Jr., 11 years old, and Jean Marvel, 8 years old, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Marvel of Pasadena, who are spending the summer at their cottage here.

The youngsters were rowing on the bay when a strong current carried them to the piling. They were in the breakers. Fortunately, all four of the children possessed some knowledge of swimming and they all safely made the piling under the Pacific Electric trestle when Ferdinand Voss, and Voss, passing in an automobile, discovered their predicament. Lowering a tow rope, he rescued all four of the victims, who were found to be none the worse for their experience, except from bruises and cuts sustained when they were buffeted against the barnacle piling.

The rowboat was carried out to sea.

DEATH THREAT MADE IN COURT.

Man in Quadruple Divorce Startles Attaches.

Says He may be Fired; if so will Commit Suicide.

He Loses Suit; Wife's Given Separate Support.

"I suppose I will lose my job tomorrow over this, and if I do I will probably put a bullet in my brain."

With this startling statement, Harold C. Powell, auditor for a large local corporation and one of four persons interested in a remarkable quadruple divorce action which was fought out for two days in Judge Sherk's court, got up yesterday and left the courtroom.

The court had just denied Mr. Powell a divorce from Mrs. Lillie E. Powell on the ground of cruelty. Instead, the court awarded Mrs. Powell $85 a month for separate maintenance. Mr. Powell had just informed the court that he had once before lost a position as an auditor through an alleged attack by his wife.

"Well, what do you propose to do now?" asked the court.

Mr. Powell then made his remarkable statement. George C. Bush, attorney for Mr. Powell, and court attaché talked with Mr. Powell and quieted him. The court paid no attention to the remark. Mr. Powell said his salary is $100 a month.

Powell's plea for a divorce, said the plaintiff's charges of mental and physical cruelty appeared to be "abundantly provoked."

NOT SUSTAINED. The court held that charges of adultery, made by Mrs. Powell to her cross-complaint, in which she named Mrs. Julia Natalie Wilford as co-respondent, were not sustained. This also applied to the case of Benton Thomas Wilford, who was divorced from his wife and charged her with adultery.

Recalled to the stand, Mrs. Powell testified that at the time her husband alleged she attacked him, he struck her in the face, breaking her nose. She reiterated her charge regarding the finding of evidence that her home was occupied by another woman, and her husband during a temporary absence. She said she had a look of "blond hair in a waste basket."

"I am boasting for the possibility of Los Angeles," said Mr. Seiberling, with great emphasis, and when he said this the audience applauded enthusiastically. "You have a wonderful summer climate, which is not generally known. You have great resources. Akron, O., was developed into the greatest rubber-manufacturing city in the world without any of the natural resources you have here."

"You have one of the great undeveloped resources—Imperial Valley cotton. This year California and Arizona will produce 150,000 bales of the best cotton produced anywhere. Not 5000 bales is made up here."

ARM IS PLAYED BY PROPELLER. National Guard Officer Saves Child by Fencing Lounge of Wild Airplane.

All the flesh from elbow to wrist of the left arm of Capt. Arthur L. Anderson, 917 South Grand View avenue, an officer of the Fifteenth Separate Company of the California National Guard and in civilian life a traveling salesman, was stripped off by the blades of an airplane propeller yesterday, when he sacrificed his own safety to save a child from injury.

The plane, operated by W. B. Hawkins, lurched sideward when rising at the Mercury Aviation Field, Wilshire boulevard and Crescent avenue, and the propeller caught Capt. Anderson when he sprang forward to shield the child. His arm was flayed and the bone broken.

MIRACLE MAN.
People who have been reading the testimony of Henry Ford in his libel suit against the Chicago Tribune are wondering how the dickens he could ever make a machine to go so far.

REVENUE PRODUCERS.
After all has been said, no buttermilk was ever churned that would stand a revenue tax of $6.40 a gallon. People would much prefer to leave it alone than stand such an assessment. But with Old Crow—oh, well, what's the use?

UCULLIAN.
A wealthy Chicago broker was arrested for wife abandonment on his return from a banquet at the home of Col. George Harvey. If the colonel's dinner is going to result in this fashion we move that the high cost of living be investigated.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?
It does not seem a bit odd that most of the Senators who shudder at the prospect of entangling alliances and who insist that America must keep her hands out of world affairs are the ones who are boosting up an Irish republic. But for the harmonious official understanding with our allies Great Britain would have just grievance against some of the careless oratory spouted from the national capital. The British Parliament might get even by urging a rebellion or the return of California to Mexico.

STRENGTH IN UNION.
The Unification Commission, consisting of forty members selected from both the clergy and laity of the north and south branches of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is still attempting to unite under one government the two sections of that church. That the two branches of that powerful religious denomination will ultimately join hands, for both the same reasons, is a moot point at best. Little question. Before the Civil War the two churches were one. The issues that divided the nation for a time also split the Methodist church. The nation has applied the salve of unity-of-spirit to its wounds and hardly a scar is left to bear witness of the deplorable conflict. Surely the church, whose fundamental teaching is that of brotherhood, cannot afford to lag behind.

THE IDEALIST.
Among other philanthropic ideas Henry Ford was about to have the Bible rewritten into what he calls plain, understandable English. But people would be justifiably suspicious of a Ford edition of the scriptures. They would be afraid of reading of the Israelites crossing the Red Sea in a flock of tin snappers made in Detroit. It would be better if Henry contented himself by following the example of the Old Testament. Let him make a little wall pocket in each of his cars and slip in a regular Bible. Every now and then a man who drives a Ford feels the need of one. The Detroit manufacturer may have had benevolent plans, but the longer he remained on the witness stand the greater was the wonder how he even found courage to vote for himself for Senator.

THE FRENCH SINGER.
The opera singers in Paris have formed a combination, or union, and one of the conditions for which they strive is that no production shall be given in which more than 6 per cent. of the singers are other than French. France is to be for the French so far as they are concerned and they don't want the warblers of other countries. If America limited her grand opera companies to but 5 per cent. of foreign birth it wouldn't be thought much of an opera season by the smart set. The Parisian singers are also insisting on a minimum wage of $50 a month. Not so far back there were chorus girls who had to be content with about $20 a month. At that rate it was hard to keep the old limousine running. Under the new schedule the thrifty Parisienne twitler should be able to have a maid and a dog.

IDIOT CHILD OF CITIES.
That's the expression applied by a man born in Chicago to his birthplace. He also calls it the ugly city where you can travel a whole day and never have a glimpse of anything well-favored. He paints a terrible picture of uncleanness and darkness and says that hardly anybody cares. And this is the town that called California "the boob State."

Whether this writer's attack on his native city is a fair one or not is a matter for the residents to decide. It's not our quarrel so we stand aside. It is interesting to note, however, that thousands of Chicagoans have a second home in Los Angeles or vicinity.

A student of those interesting books, hotel registers, will find, especially between January and April, that hundreds of Chicagoans come to the Angel City to escape the discomforts of the "idiot child of cities." As many more make their winter home in Pasadena, the big hotels which add so much fame and bring so much revenue to the beautiful Crown City. Chicago may be ill-smelling and as wretched as the magazine writer paints it, but there is always Los Angeles as a haven of delight for its inhabitants to come to when they want beauty, sunshine, flowers and fresh air.

TAFT'S INTERPRETATIONS.

Former President Taft has made a draft of six tentative interpretations of sections of the covenant of the League of Nations which he suggests in a communication to Will Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, may serve to placate enough members of the Senate to assure an early ratification of the peace treaty. Mr. Taft's correspondence with Mr. Hays, while intended as confidential, has been made public at Washington, presumably by some of the embittered antagonists of the League of Nations who seek to nullify its effect.

It is perhaps unfortunate that the correspondence should have been published at this time. For it contains criticisms of the course pursued by President Wilson which are undeniably true, but which Mr. Taft has never made in his public addresses for the evident reason that they might create inharmonious among the advocates of the league. Mr. Taft has never been unmindful of the high position which he has occupied in the government and in all his public utterances he has avoided aught that savored of personal or partisan criticism. The Times does not doubt that Mr. Taft sincerely regrets that his private opinions, expressed in confidence to one whose cooperation he sought in obtaining a ratification of the peace treaty, should have received public exploitation.

In his communication to Mr. Hays he warned that it would be best that the authorship of the six reservations should not be made public—not because he did not care to sponsor them publicly, but because he feared that the connection of his name with them might awaken partisan opposition. Never has the big heart and the personal disinterestedness of Mr. Taft been more clearly revealed. He placed patriotism and the public interest before all personal advantage. He believes that the interpretations might make possible an early ratification of the treaty; and he was willing that the world should know nothing of the authorship, provided they were adopted. His position was that of the soldier who fights in the smoke of battle, where his personal exploits will never be known, caring not to whom the glory of the victory should be attached, provided only that the victory be won. Had President Wilson been content to play a similar part the peace treaty, including the League of Nations covenant, would now be in effect. The contrast in the attitude of Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson toward the League of Nations brings unconsciously to mind that of the real mother and the pretender in the Judgment of Solomon.

Mr. Taft tells Mr. Hays: "I am strongly in favor of ratifying the treaty as it is. Were I in the Senate I should not hesitate to vote for it, but the situation may require concession to secure ratification, and I suggest what I have already sent to you as something that will secure a useful League of Nations, which may be improved and which at the same time may satisfy the genuine objections of the Republican friends of the league in the Senate."

Three of the reservations which Mr. Taft prepared are of prime interest. He suggests an interpretation setting forth more clearly that the United States will not permit the Monroe Doctrine to come within the scope of the League of Nations. He would make the stipulation that questions regarding immigration, the tariff and other domestic matters shall not be left to the league for settlement. He suggests the further stipulation that the United States reserves the right to withdraw unconditionally from the league at the expiration of ten years, or at least to terminate the obligations under Article X to send its troops to settle international disputes in the Eastern Hemisphere. There is a fourth minor reservation that this country reserves the right to withdraw unconditionally on giving two years' notice.

Mr. Taft explains to Mr. Hays that he favors the ratification of the league covenant without these reservations because a part of them are implied in the treaty and, further, because the covenant of the league is subject to future amendment. He does not expect perfection in the first attempt.

Probably the most important part of the correspondence, however, is that which discloses that the President lacks at least nineteen votes of the necessary two-thirds majority to secure a ratification of the treaty without interpretation or amendment. His arrogant attitude toward the legislative branch, the governor of the given birth to enemies which his logic cannot now destroy. Had the President possessed the spirit of Mr. Taft to do a big thing in a big way, to make personal renunciations for the public good, the Senate situation would be different. But the President and the country must now make the best of the situation as it exists. Not even the President has power over the past. The one thing that is avoided is a compromise that will devitalize the league covenant, or any part of it. The Times fully agrees with ex-President Taft that any capricious opposition will react on the Republican party; that a few narrow partisans in the Senate may bring the party in such disrepute that victory in next year's national elections will be impossible.

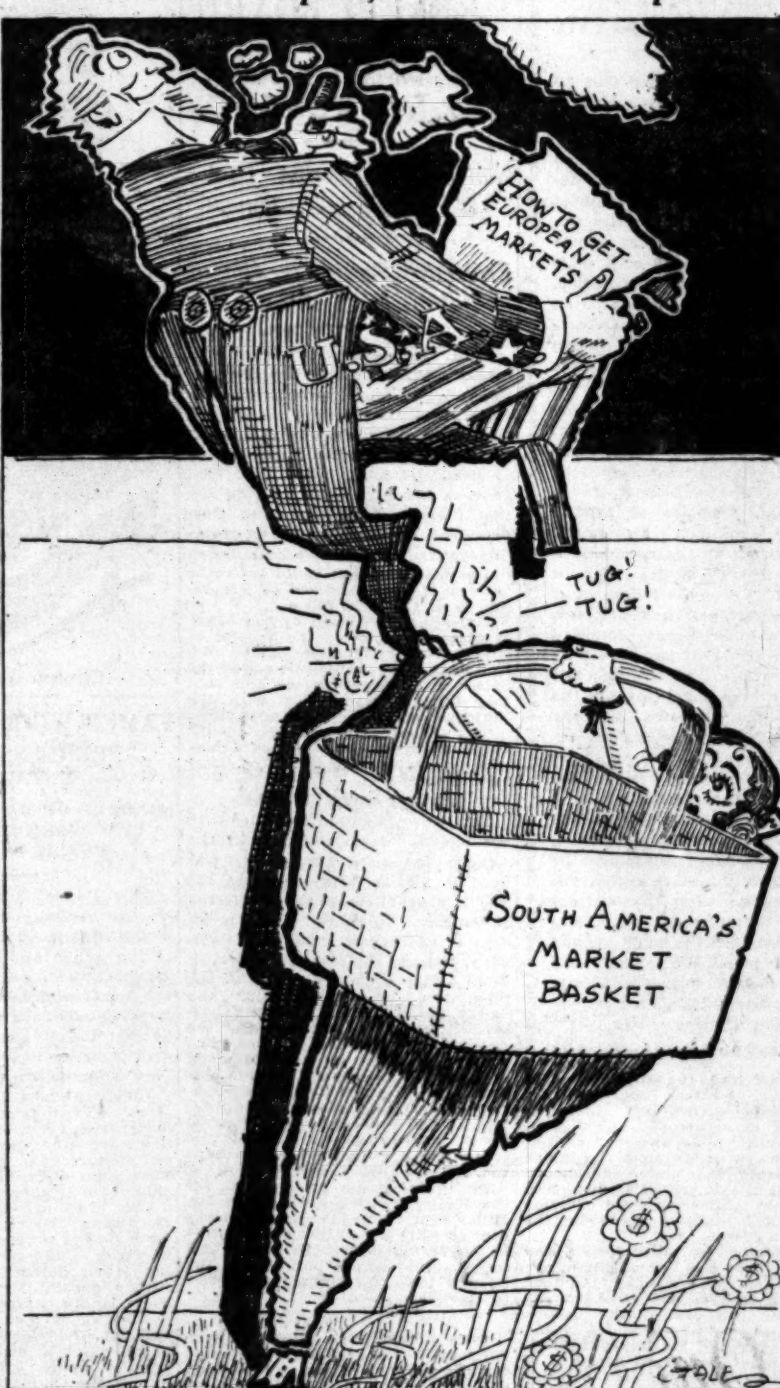

THE UNGRACIOUS GUEST.

America has been very kind and very careless with its welcomes. Uncle Sam has been big and tolerant and even now does not fitly resent the shameless way in which some of his unbidden guests have abused his generous hospitality. In the course of his address before the grand lodge of Elks at Atlantic City Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois remarked upon this point:

"For years we looked upon the Socialist party as visionary, but now we are confronted with the fact that it has become a municipal cold-storage warehouse for fresh fish. There can be no argument on that score. Such a warehouse would meet some compelling problems in the fish industry. But that plan has only an incidental and collateral bearing on Mr. Weinstein's central idea. The fact is, the proposed competition-throttling combine is necessary rather for the establishing of a cold-storage plant—it is proposed to have that done by the Harbor Commission—nor for its operation. To mention it in connection with a scheme to have all fishermen deal through a single individual with wholesalers who have underwritten the catch in advance at prices virtually dictated by the producers would be lost. Mankind would have to begin once more the age-old battle for liberty, for justice, for equal opportunity against the unkept tyrants who would rise amid the ruins of a stricken world."

There are a great many parlor Socialists who innocently subscribe to the doctrines of that party and yet are at heart patriots who cherish the institutions of their land. They should realize, through these words of warning from the elect, the wrong they are doing themselves and their country through the company they are keeping. When the integrity of the nation is threatened, without any deliberate intent on their part, they are actually allying themselves with the forces that would pull it down and leave naught but chaos in its wake.

whim and not his legitimate needs—to mention the warehouse at all in such a connection is simply talking beside the point. The plain fact is that some 1600 of the 2000 fishing boats in the local fleet, according to Fish Exchange figures, are owned and operated by Japanese. Whenever the price offered for fish does not suit these men they tie up their boats and go to work in the bean fields.

Under Mr. Weinstein's lately-postponed plan to fix the price in advance of the catch the fishermen would get the profit cupidity dictates, or he would not ply his trade. The State law gives the Fish Exchange the power to regulate prices, but not to compel the fishermen to cast his net.

Mr. Weinstein says, there is no hour when it is practicable to fix a fair price for the fish coming in that day, and it is not possible to wait until the day's catch is all landed, as by evening many fish brought to shore in the morning will have gone from wholesaler to retailer and even to the consumer. He declares dealers are now forced to buy at "high morning prices" from boats that get in early and make the public pay that "high morning price" to supply that demand. I saw the shadow of a fisherman whose boat got in late, when the day's demand has been supplied, are forced to sell to fertilizer plants at ruinous prices.

It would seem that, with a public cold-storage warehouse in operation, the late fisherman might easily bide his time and break the "high morning price" next day to his own and the public's profit. But there is no provision in the State Fish Exchange program for calling off advance price-fixing, even if public cold storage becomes a reality.

It is only another of those Weinstein plans now becoming familiar to the people of this State. It bears the earmarks that have made other activities of the State Market Director distasteful alike to producer and consumer. This "postponed" fish combine differs from the others only in the relative greatness of its scope.

The world is oversupplied with jobless prices. Of course, the members of the forty fat commissions will pay the threatened deficit in California's finances. Sure.

A DREAM AND AN AWAKENING.

BY JAMES M. WARNACK.

I dreamed I stood, naked and alone, before my Maker. And God said: "This is your Judgment Day. From the dust of earth I fashioned your body, but your soul I made as free as air, endowing your spirit with the faculty of feeling and the power to reason. That you might know truth from error I showed you the tree of knowledge of good and evil and even allowed you to eat thereof. But instead of living in truth you chose the shadows, instead of the life of the spirit you sought the pleasures of sense. Death and sorrow you brought to yourself, to those you loved you and to those you might have loved and blessed. From star to star took your soul, and from life to life, each time sealing up the cells of your memory, in order that you might not despair, but that you might erase the dark deeds of your past—hoping, for your sake, that you would remodel yourself according to the image of your first appearance. But, behold, you have shown no respect for your godhood. From life to life you went, ever building new memory cells and placing within them the filth of your own creation. And now, weary of striving with you, I abandon you to yourself, and you shall see, at last, that it is not I but your own soul that judges you. Your punishment shall be that you are left alone in a tumultuous sea of surging memories."

Then God seemed to vanish and a strange chill came suddenly over me. Then a great wave of light swept over my soul, for an instant putting all my sensibilities to sleep, but leaving me fevered and burning. I seemed to stand upon a terrible height, looking down upon myself as I had been in the long, dim past. Looking upon myself, did I say? Nay, looking upon my myriad selfhood. For I was no longer an individual, I was a million souls. I would have shrunk back in terror, but I could not hide. On every side toward which I turned, and up or down, wherever I looked, there greeted me thousands of my other selves. I wept, and even my tears divided themselves into souls, souls!

I screamed aloud and the misty atoms of my breath became souls—and those souls were me, the endless brood of me! I gazed down upon a thousand shadow forms that seemed to live and breathe—shadows writhing, groaning, crying, hysterically, sweating in drops of blood. They were of every form and color, conceivable—dragons, worms, serpents, strange creatures, half human and half brute, flying, jumping, crawling things, the whirling of a million wings and saw little flashes of light, like the yellow of death, and light-blue flames that flickered and vanished like hopes that are born to die in a moment.

I turned from one side to another, trying to rid myself of some part of the awful vision, but I met myself at every turn. I closed my eyes, and my very brain seemed infested by masses of maggots whose only desire was to gorge themselves upon the substance of the senses by which I perceived the world.

It was then that I began to see the meaning of resurrection. It was then that I realized my responsibility to the inner life of every atom which composed the body that I had been wont to call my own. It was then that I discovered the impossibility of detaching the soul from those forms of life which the soul attracts and which are attracted to the soul. It was then that I saw the countless selves of my central selfhood and realized our fatal interdependence. It was not as if I saw them only, I felt and knew myself in them, beholding from a million eyes the thing that stood there looking down.

I looked backward through a million incarnations of myself and saw the wrongs which I had inflicted upon my fellow-beings in the long, long past. I was haunted by the white faces of women that I had killed with words that were daggers. I was haunted by tears that fell from the eyes of mothers—tears that in themselves were holy as dewdrops in the lily's heart, but which fell like venom on my tortured soul. I saw the shadow forms of little children that I once had struck in anger—children whose bodies had wasted away, but whose tender souls went mourning among the stars and praying for me that they want I saw a million bodies that had contained my soul, and I saw them die and disintegrate and the souls in them take strange forms, the while I watched them from outer darkness.

I saw the germs of sin that I had created by my own passions and weakness, and I saw those germs develop into monsters. I saw the hate of avarice and the serpents of lust. And those elemental passions were embodied in the beasts of earth and, behold, I was the creature without sight. I was the germs of disease that plagued the people of Pharaoh's kingdom, the vampire that cat the bodies of men. I was the inspiration of the mind which guided the hands that fashioned the sword of Attila. I was the thought-form in the mind of Judas that whispered into his ear the Lover of Man. I was Adam driven from his Eden; I was the first black-browed murderer, skulking from the side of his prostrate victim. I was the fever that burned the veins of the Magdalene. I was the madness that gnawed at Nero's heart.

Turning my eyes inward, all these things I beheld as parts of myself. All of these germs were confused in anguish. There were angels in torment, spirits of hope in pain, beauty chained in an unthinkable hell. There were sins that suffered and noble thoughts that writhed in —6% and 7% Public Securities mean 6% and 7% Net Income for investors.

Exemption from Federal Income Taxation, both Normal and Surplus, is one of the most important points for investors to require in the securities they buy. California Street and District Bonds yielding 6% and 7% are not only exempt from all Federal Income Taxation, but also from State, County and City taxes when held in California. Their excellent income yield is therefore entirely to the investor.

BIG CONTRACTS ARE AWARDED BY CITY.

MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT FOR POWER PLANT WILL COST OVER $500,000.

Contracts for more than $461,000 worth of machinery and equipment for Power Plant No. 2, in the San Francisco Canyon, were awarded by the Board of Public Service Commissioners, yesterday.

A contract for the hydroelectric appliances was awarded to the William-Seaver-Morgan Company for $253,541. The rate of $25 per day is to be allowed the company for the time consumed here, by the supervising engineer in the installation of the machinery.

The General Electrical Company was awarded a contract for the electrical machinery and equipment for the sum of $457,505, and $10 per day is to be allowed the firm for the time consumed here, by the supervising engineer in the installation of the machinery.

In each case the city is to pay the contracts 5 per cent. per annum on deferred payments. The city, of course, will not be in a position to meet the payments on these contracts until it can dispose of the recently authorized issue of $1,000,000 power bonds, and these are now being held up by litigation.

The awards were made upon the recommendation of Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood, and the members of the Board of Commissioners who were available, Prof. Harris J. Ryan and Prof. Duran of Stanford University. They also consulted by telegraph with Engineer Emagin, the third member of this board, who is now in Chicago.

IN WARD-GAFFEY CASE.

Las Vegas Dispatches Give Life to Divorce Reports.

Dispatches from Las Vegas, Nev., last night gave the lie to reports that Mrs. C. Montague Ward, daughter of John T. Gaffey of the harbor, was about to be awarded a divorce from her husband, who was an officer in the British navy during the war. "Ward suit not yet filed," is the laconic wording of the dispatch. Kate Harkness, speaking for the Gaffey family, also denied yesterday that such a suit had been filed. Mrs. Ward, then Miss Margaret Gaffey, married Mr. Ward, son of a harbor pioneer, in February, 1913. As their mothers are sisters a special dispensation had to be received from the Pope before the wedding. The Wards have one child. Mrs. Ward is a granddaughter of Mrs. Annadine B. Baker, Southland pioneer, who died some years ago, leaving a large estate.

On that date the labor unions have given notice closed shop principles will prevail. It is said that the unions have been organizing and preparing for the struggle. BELIEVE MINER DEAD IN WILDS.

Officers Abandon Hope for Death Valley Traveler.

Ex-Soldier Now Missing Two Weeks; Wife Collapses.

All hope of finding Marion Gross, 3517 Marmon way, Los Angeles, alive in Death Valley has practically been abandoned by the local Sheriff's force, according to Chief Deputy Manning.

Mr. Gross has been missing since July 8. He left his home July 7 for the Eagle Lake gold mine near Greenwater, an abandoned property in which he had invested practically all his money. He intended to cross the desert from Zabriskie, reach the mine, and return by July 14, but nothing has been heard from him since he left this city.

J. Fairbanks, who has saved several people from perishing in the blistering heat of the Death Valley country, left yesterday in charge of a posse to search for the missing man, but nothing had been heard of him late last night and Sheriff (line is convinced there is no chance that Gross is alive.

According to Mrs. Gross, who is prostrated at her home, when her husband left here he intended to travel on foot from Zabriskie to the mine, a distance of thirty-five miles, carrying a supply of water and food. This is physically impossible, Sheriff Manning says. He believes it would take an ordinary man three days to walk from Zabriskie to the mine, and no one could carry enough water and food for the desert to last three days, he says.

Mr. Gross is an inexperienced miner and is not familiar with the desert or the road to the abandoned mine.

According to Mrs. Gross, her husband had intended to replenish his water supply at the mine, from spring said to flow there. This would be sudden death, according to all persons familiar with the mine. The water, it is said, is heavily impregnated with arsenic.

Others familiar with the mine and the desert declare there is no water within a reasonable distance, and when the mine was being worked the water was hauled from nearby points.

Marion Gross is about 33 years of age. Manning said, and was said to have returned from France where he served in the American Expeditionary force in World War I. He was said to have been looking for an opening to invest a little more money. The Sheriff said, when he started to the mine, and had intended to interest some local capitalists in the Eagle Lake.

CALL FOR BANDSMEN. Musicians Who Saw Service Are Wanted for Engagements.

Musicians who have served in the army, navy or Marine Corps and are qualified for band work are urgently needed to fill engagements in August, largely in connection with the visit of the fleet.

This announcement was made yesterday by the Liberty Club, 600 St. Paul street, which has undertaken to re-instate former service men without charge in civilian musical work.

The band of ex-soldiers and ex-sailors that has been formed at the Liberty Club is directed by Theodore Gordon, a local leader, where a number of engagements now looked. Representatives of the organization called yesterday at the Mayor's office, to present a plan for the formation of a municipal band, but did not see the city's executive. They will arrange to do so later.

ELDERLY MAN STRUCK BY CAR AND CRUSHED.

Stepping in front of a street car at Twenty-seventh street and Maple avenue late yesterday afternoon, John A. Plumley, 63 years of age, 354 Rugby street, was so seriously injured he died at the Receiving Hospital later. According to Police Surgeon Goodrich, the elderly man received a fracture of the left arm, a broken right shoulder blade, three fractured ribs, a puncture of the lungs and other internal injuries.

Police who investigated the accident said Mr. Plumley, a retired realty man, attempted to cross the street and stepped in front of the street car. The motorman, who attempted to stop the car, was not blamed.

TO RAISE DIFFERENCE. After a long debate as to other possible ways of meeting the situation, the City Council yesterday voted to provide from the general fund an appropriation of $5093 to meet the difference between the amount voted by the municipal improvement district No. 7, the Loma road and bridge district—and the amount named by the lowest bidder on this work. This opens the way for the award of the contract and beginning of an improvement that will be of decided advantage to the harbor district.

LOS ANGELES DOCTOR BACK FROM FRANCE. Capt. Egbert Moody, son-in-law of L. E. Behrmer, has just returned to America after a year's absence in the service of the American Expeditionary Force. He was first stationed in Central France, according to word received here yesterday, but just before the signing of the armistice he was sent to the front for field hospital duty during the Argonne-Meuse drive. After the cessation of hostilities his unit was ordered to Mar la Tour, a few miles from Metz, to establish a hospital to care for the returning prisoners and repatriated French citizens.

At the end of April, Capt. Moody was sent to Beaune to instruct in the College of Medicine, of the A. E. F. University. He returned from duty there, owing to previous recommendations for special work in England, he has been in London since the first of April for post-graduate medical work offered by the Fellowship of Medicine and Royal Society of Medicine. His wife, Mrs. Elsie Behrmer Moody, and a seven-months old daughter are eagerly awaiting his arrival next Sunday.

LADY DRIVER'S PLIGHT GRAVE.

Riverside Society Woman is Rearrested, Arraigned.

Felony Complaint Result of Intoxication Charge.

Hers First Case Under New Motor Vehicle Act.

Arrested for the second time yesterday, Mrs. Georgia Gardiner, a guest at the Alexandria Hotel, was the first person in the State to be charged under the new Motor Vehicle Act with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The amended act makes the offense a felony. It went into effect July 6, according to Deputy District Attorney Becker, who issued the complaint.

Mrs. Gardiner was arrested yesterday at her hotel by Constable Hayes and was later arraigned before Justice Palmer. She was accompanied by Mrs. Linda Jesse Tice, a hostess at the Alexandria.

Patrolman H. J. Kirk first arrested Mrs. Gardiner Wednesday night on Spring street, near Mercantile place, and took her to the Receiving Hospital. There she was given the test for intoxication by Dr. Dietler.

She obtained her release Wednesday night on $100 bail.

It was disclosed yesterday that she was subject to the provisions of the new law.

Mrs. Gardiner pleaded with Justice Palmer when she appeared for arraignment.

"Did I run into anybody?" she asked. "Did I hurt anyone?" "If I did, tell me, I'd like to know."

This court does not have to decide that," replied Justice Palmer. "As the complaint has been legally made out against you by a police officer, you will be held on $200 cash bail."

Mrs. Gardiner was notified that her hearing was set for Monday afternoon at 10 o'clock in the County Jail for not less than six months, nor more than one year, or by imprisonment in State's prison for from one to three years, or by a fine of from $500 to $5000.

DEATH THREAT MADE IN COURT.

A fit of anger, I went to her, put my arm around her and said, 'What's the matter, Lillie?' She sunk her teeth in my arm.

Witness showed a slight scar he said was caused by his wife's teeth. He said she later told him she found some of the woman's hair in his automobile. He said such might be the case, as he often brought several persons home from parties.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit with berries or other fruits is a life-saver for thousands—the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked. Combines deliciously with berries and all kinds of fresh fruits—a satisfying, nourishing meal for a few cents. Easily prepared without kitchen worry or work.

LOS ANGELES DOCTOR BACK FROM FRANCE. Capt. Egbert Moody, son-in-law of L. E. Behrmer, has just returned to America after a year's absence in the service of the American Expeditionary Force. He was first stationed in Central France, according to word received here yesterday, but just before the signing of the armistice he was sent to the front for field hospital duty during the Argonne-Meuse drive. After the cessation of hostilities his unit was ordered to Mar la Tour, a few miles from Metz, to establish a hospital to care for the returning prisoners and repatriated French citizens.

At the end of April, Capt. Moody was sent to Beaune to instruct in the College of Medicine, of the A. E. F. University. He returned from duty there, owing to previous recommendations for special work in England, he has been in London since the first of April for post-graduate medical work offered by the Fellowship of Medicine and Royal Society of Medicine. His wife, Mrs. Elsie Behrmer Moody, and a seven-months old daughter are eagerly awaiting his arrival next Sunday.
